

2020–21 SEASON CALENDAR

Even during these uncertain times, we can think creatively on how to continue to achieve our goals of supporting and encouraging the arts in our community. Although we don't know how long we will need to continue on a virtual platform, we can use this great opportunity to reach a larger audience, to make our offerings more accessible to more people, and to embrace and promote excellence in music!

This fall, our programming will need to remain in a virtual format, but the remainder of our season is planned so that many of our events are flexible. We will be able to make firm decisions on whether they will be virtual or live as the time draws closer (with locations TBA). Stay posted!

Don't forget to watch the national AGO website for their new collaborative effort of sharing online content. Go here for Online Programming for Chapters and Upcoming Webinars, Recitals, and Workshops.
